DID SOME DAMAGE.

The Cold Weather in Central Texas
Injured Winter Gardens.

Waco, Texas, Jan. 22.—The freezing weather yesterday morning, accompanied by a heavy frost, did some damage to winter gardens and truck farms, but it is thought that there was very little injury to the fruit. Although buds have been swelling somewhat, they were not far enough advanced to be injured to any extent. Small grain was not hurt much, although volunteer oats, where not kept grazed down, had commenced heading out.

Many lawns in the city have been as green as wheat fields for ten days.

and representative attendance. The purpose of the conference, which will be in session two days, is to consider the race problem from all viewpoints and to devise means by which the condition of the negro can be bettered.

The personnel of the conference is such as is calculated to bring about results of a substantial and far-reaching character. Prominent among those who have accepted invitations to speak are Governor Ansel, former Governor Heyward and Bishop Ellison Capers. Booker Washington and Bishop R. S. Williams head the list of those who will be heard on behalf of the negro race.

BIG BENEFIT FOR FIGHTER McGOVERN

NEW YORK WILL BE ENTERTAINED WITH BOXING PROGRAM AS A BENEFIT.

Special to the Herald.

New York, Jan. 23.—Tonight will be a gala night in flistic circles. Champions in every class of the present day and champions of a decade ago are to do the mitts in Madison Square Garden in friendly bouts in aid of the benefit to Terry McGovern, the former lightweight champion, whose fighting days are over. Ever since the little fighter was taken to a sanitarium recently, feeble in both mind and body, his former managers, Sam Harris and Joe Humphreys, have been actively at work arranging a testimonial benefit. In their efforts they have received substantial aid from scores of fighters and other sporting men and from members of the theatrical profession, among all of whom McGovern was very popular.

The boxing program tonight promises to be a rare treat. James J. Corbett, Tommy Murphy, Jake Kilrain, Tom Sharkey, Billy Edwards and a score or more of other prominent fighters of the past or present day will do the padded mitts for friendly set-toes. In addition there will be a vaudeville program in which numerous stage celebrities will be seen.

Checks aggregating nearly $10,000 have been received from various quarters. Among those who have contributed liberally are Champion Jim Jeffries, George M. Cohan, Sam Harris, "Tim" Sullivan, Tony Pastor and Al. H. Woods. It is believed that a sufficient sum will be realized from the benefit not only to care for the remaining days of the once great little fighter, but also to provide for the future of his mother, his wife and child, whose sole support he was.

Bought by the Kaiser.

Special to the Herald.

Berlin, Jan. 23.—Emperor William has just bought the house in which his grandfather, the first German emperor, passed the night on the eve of the battle of St. Privat in 1870. The place is a modest little homestead in the village of Rezonville, belonging to an old farmer named Baron. On learning that the man was in distressed circumstances, the emperor purchased the place for $5000—about three times its value—and told the old man that he could remain in the house as long as he lives. Upon Baron's death the emperor will turn the place into a museum.

RICH AND INSANE WOMAN DYING

MISS FOLSOM, RICHEST INSANE
WOMAN, DYING IN SANITARIUM AT WAVERLY.

Special to the Herald.

New York, Jan. 23.—Margaret Winthrop Folsom, known as the wealthiest insane woman in the world, is reported to be dying in a sanitarium at Waverly, Mass. There she has spent most of the thirty-eight years since she was declared incompetent to conduct an estate which she inherited in 1872. The estate was extremely large for those days, and is now enormous. It consists almost entirely of realty in this city, and is probably close to $4,000,000 in actual value.

Half a century ago the Folsom family was one of the most prominent in society and politics in this State. Today her only relative and heir is her brother, George Winthrop Folsom. He collects an income of $150,000 a year from the thirty-eight properties which he owns and from the bonds, stocks and mortgages, amounting to $250,000, included in her estate. For his services as committee of her person and estate he is allowed $30,000 by the supreme court each year.

Miss Folsom is 64 years old. Her malady is marked by recurrent periods of insanity, which of late have increased in violence, and now threaten to end her life. In 1869, after an exhaustive inquisition, Miss Folsom was adjudged insane and incompetent to care for herself or administer her affairs. Her sister, Helen Folsom, and George, the brother, were named as the committee. Miss Helen Folsom resigned in 1871, on changing her residence to England, and has since died, leaving no heirs with any claim on her sister's estate. Since then the brother has been acting alone. While her father, George Folsom, a well known antiquary and diplomat, was alive, Miss Folsom was cared for in the family home. After his death, in March, 1869, it became necessary to send her to a sanitarium. In the sanitarium she has been constantly attended by a retinue of nurses and servants, and everything that money can buy has been given her to add to her comfort or gratify her slightest wish.

TELEGRAPH WIRES BURDENED

With Protests of Texans Against Re-
Election of Bailey.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 22.—In spite of the fact that the avowed organs of Senator Bailey refused to publish the appeal to the people calling upon constituents to press home upon senators and representatives the demand for a delay of action before the election of a United States senator, hundreds of telegrams were received and delivered at the capital Monday, most of them representing the demand. The "People's long distance lobby" was represented in a multitude of demands.

The address was printed in those papers that have not been vigorously supporting the senator in his remarkable campaign and the response indicated the circulation represented without the "organs."

The influx of messages continued all through Monday and this morning before the time for the vote. In no other manner could the advocates of an investigation have served so forcefully to bring back to the delegates the force of public sentiment.

Few of those who received the messages were willing to exhibit them, and frequently the torn scraps of yellow paper in numerous wastebaskets testified to the defiance offered.

The measure was almost remarkable in its import. Philadelphia tactics such as secured for that city release from the gas ring are now in a measure in use in this State that the people may at least have an opportunity to discover as to whether or not Texas belongs to the Standard Oil.

Sloum News.

Special to the Herald.

Sloum, Texas, Jan. 21.—Editors Herald: As this place has not given any news since Christmas, I will give a few dots.

STRANGE TURN OF FORTUNE IN LOTTERY

MANY PEOPLE IN SPAIN GET BEN-EFITS OF BIG PRIZE IN ANNUAL SPANISH LOTTERY.

Special to the Herald.

Madrid, Jan. 23.—Once more the great Spanish lottery, which is an annual event at holiday time, has come and gone. Amid the usual scene of breathless excitement, 34,746 was proclaimed to be the winning number of the capital prize of $1,000,000. The ticket bearing this number was divided into tenths, and these again subdivided into fractions, so that over 700 persons might be said to have an interest in it. Most of these people belonged to the poorer classes of Alicante, where joy now reigns supreme.

Some touching stories have been told of the lucky gamblers. One poor shopkeeper of Bilbao was on the point of being closed out for debt when the news of his winning arrived just in the nick of time to save him from ruin. A workman, whose sick child needed expensive treatment, drew $600. A young man whose marriage had been put off for lack of funds, was overjoyed at being made the recipient of $800. Senor Agullo, an innkeeper of Alicante, is one of fortune's favorites. One of his employees had obtained leave to purchase a small share in his master's ticket, but had been unable to find the money to pay for it. On hearing the luck he had just missed by a hair's breadth, the poor fellow burst into tears, whereupon Senor Agullo generously paid him his share. The prisoners in the town gaol combined to buy one ticket, which won for them $6000.
